

Staying safe at college – social distancing

	The Coronavirus is still making some people sick.
	It is safe to go back to college, but there are some rules everyone has to follow.
	You might have heard of something called 'social distancing'.
	Social distancing means that you must stay 2 metres away from people you don't live with.
	You have to do this at every place you go outside of your home. This means you have to do this at college.
	Staying 2 metres away from people will help to keep you and them safe from Coronavirus. It will help everyone to stay healthy.
	When you are 2 metres away from people it is very hard for Coronavirus to spread and make you sick.
	Sometimes it is difficult to stay 2 metres away from people. This is ok. If you have to be closer to people make sure you move 2 metres away as quickly as you can. This will help keep you safe from Coronavirus.

	It is difficult to know how big 2 metres is. This is ok. You can ask someone to help you.
	Staying 2 metres away from people can make you feel sad, worried or scared. This is ok. If you feel like this you can talk to the college staff, your family or your carers.
	Staying 2 metres away from people is ok. It helps to keep everyone safe from Coronavirus. It helps to stop Coronavirus spreading. It helps everyone stay healthy.
